

JOY MCGLAUN

Joy McGlaun is the health legislative assistant for Senator Russell D. Feingold. Prior to working for Senator Feingold, she worked in the U.S. House of Representatives for Congressman Jim Turner and Congressman Vic Snyder, a family physician. Prior to coming to Capitol Hill, Ms. McGlaun worked at Health and Human Services as a Truman Fellow in the Immediate Office of the Secretary and in the Office of Rural Health Policy within the Health Resources Services Administration, focusing on rural health issues. She handled rural womens health issues for the Department and also worked on issues regarding rural health research, the National Rural Development Partnership, and capital funding for health care facilities. She graduated from Texas Tech University where she was awarded the Harry S Truman Scholarship for potential to excel in public service.